Privacy Notice

When does this privacy notice apply?

This privacy notice applies to individuals registering for the MyMedicare Program.

The aim of this notice is to explain how the Australian Government will manage personal information consistent with obligations under the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth) (Privacy Act) and the Australian Privacy Principles (APPs). This includes how Australian Government agencies will collect, use and disclose information about you as part of the MyMedicare Program. As part of MyMedicare registration you can also choose to provide other information about yourself, including:

- Whether you identify as Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander
- Your country of birth
- The language you speak at home and how well you speak English

You can choose to change or remove your answers for a current MyMedicare registration at any stage. Updated or removed answers will be reflected in your current MyMedicare registration.

This voluntary information will also be provided back to your medical practice in an identifiable form. The voluntary data may also be linked to other information such as hospital, aged care or other government sector data to get a fuller picture of the health needs of Australians. The information you provide in this section will also be identifiable along with mandatory questions for improved service delivery, policy enhancement and compliance.

If you choose not to provide this information as part of your registration, you will still be able to register for MyMedicare. You may also provide this additional information at any time, through Medicare Online Services or directly to your practice.

Voluntary information will be used to support MyMedicare program delivery and inform future policy development. The voluntary questions asked during the registration process will support improved service delivery for different population groups, and to help the Australian Government better understand community health needs to guide program and policy improvements.

How Services Australia collects your information

Services Australia collects the information needed to complete a patient's MyMedicare registration, as well as any additional voluntary information you choose to provide, in three ways. This depends on how the patient, or their chosen practice, choose to begin the registration process.

Patient Initiated Electronic Registration

Patients can commence the registration and provide consent in Medicare Online Services, and the practice staff can then complete the registration.

Practice Initiated Electronic Registration

Practice staff can commence the patient registration process in MyMedicare, and patients can confirm their registration information and provide consent through Medicare Online Services.

Paper Registration Form

After completing the registration form to register in MyMedicare, your practice will enter your information into a secure database via Provider Digital Access (PRODA) and Health Professional Online Services (HPOS). Your practice will keep the paper registration form in your medical record as proof of your consent to participate in MyMedicare.

What happens to your information?

Your GP and practice will be able to view and update your MyMedicare registration details (including preferred GP), manage your registration, or withdraw you from MyMedicare. You will also be able to view, manage or withdraw your registration through Medicare Online Services.

Your practice will be required to securely store your completed registration form for record keeping purposes. Once you are registered, authorised staff involved in the management of the practice may have access to your information. This may include health professionals. Relevant staff may change over time.

Services Australia is responsible for the overall management and storage of your data.

To enable your practice to better manage your care, the information you provide in registering for MyMedicare may be transferred using a secure channel and confidentially stored in the practice management software.

Disclosure of your personal information to the Department of Health, Disability and Ageing

Services Australia discloses mandatory and voluntary MyMedicare information, including identifiable information, to the Department of Health, Disability and Ageing. This disclosure supports the effective administration, integrity and oversight of the MyMedicare program.

Use of your personal information by the Department of Health, Disability and Ageing

The Department of Health, Disability and Ageing uses MyMedicare information disclosed by Services Australia for:

- managing, monitoring and reporting on the MyMedicare program and incentive programs linked to MyMedicare, such as the General Practice in Aged Care Incentive (GPACI) and the Bulk Billing Practice Program (BBPIP)
- program compliance activities, including confirming the accuracy of practice and patient registrations, and identifying incorrect claims
- administering MBS payments and incentive programs linked to MyMedicare, such as GPACI and BBPIP
- policy development, program management, evaluation and continuous improvement of MyMedicare and related programs
- authorised data sharing within government to support health policy, program management and analysis (e.g. with the Australian Bureau of Statistics or the Australian Institute of Health and Welfare)
- sharing information with contracted service providers, under strict confidentiality and security requirements, to support program delivery and policy development.

External Use of Medicare and MyMedicare Data

The Department of Health, Disability and Ageing may work with external consultants, tertiary institutions and peak bodies to facilitate improvements to MyMedicare.

The Department of Health, Disability and Ageing may use Medicare and MyMedicare data for the purposes approved by Services Australia (see above). De-identified and aggregated data may be shared with external groups such as tertiary institutions or peak bodies where those organisations provide clear use cases that directly benefit MyMedicare. No identifiable personal information is shared unless it is legally authorised.

Consultants can only access Medicare related information such as MBS data or MyMedicare information when this is permitted by law. When consultants are approved to receive this information, they must also follow all relevant requirements under the Privacy Act 1988, relevant confidentiality obligations, and any relevant contractual or security conditions.

Disclosure of your personal information to DVA

If you register for MyMedicare using a Veteran Gold Card or White Card, Services Australia will provide identifiable MyMedicare information about you to DVA as approved by the Department of Health, Disability and Ageing. This is because DVA must be able to manage and support MyMedicare participation for its eligible clients. Only information relating specifically to patients who hold a DVA White or Gold Card will be shared with DVA. DVA does not receive or access broader MyMedicare data about other patients.

Use of your information by DVA

DVA may use this patient-specific information to support program activities, including:

- processing and administering DVA-funded services and payments linked to MyMedicare
- conducting program compliance, audit activities and routine monitoring of DVA claims

- analysing and developing policy, and evaluating and improving MyMedicare for veterans
- sharing data within government, where legally authorised, for program management and reporting

Only authorised DVA staff can access this information, and all use must comply with relevant privacy, secrecy and security requirements.

Use of your personal information by the Australian Digital Health Agency

If you make a request via your My Health Record, Services Australia will provide information about you to the My Health Record system so that the name of your registered practice and GP will appear in your My Health Record if you choose to have it displayed.

Other disclosures of your personal information

Your information may also be disclosed when this is authorised or required by law. Only authorised staff have access to your personal information.

Will my personal information be stored overseas?

Services Australia, the Department of Health, Disability and Ageing, the Australian Digital Health Agency or DVA will not store your personal information overseas. Talk to your medical practice about how and where your medical practice stores your personal information.
